

FRANKLAND ISLANDS

Reef and rainforest in one perfect day

Guided snorkel safari

Island nature walk

Abundant marine life

Includes a guided snorkel safari to hidden reefs

The Frankland Islands are a pristine archipelago of five uninhabited islands within the World Heritage listed Great Barrier Reef Marine Park.

Surrounded by healthy fringing reefs, they offer unparalleled snorkelling and diving. Hard and soft corals, giant clams, tropical fish, turtles, octopus and other marine life flourish here, while dugongs, manta rays and whales are regular visitors.

With terrain ranging from sandy beaches lined with coastal grasses, pandanus and coconuts, to mangroves and dense rainforest, the islands are home to an abundance of birdlife.

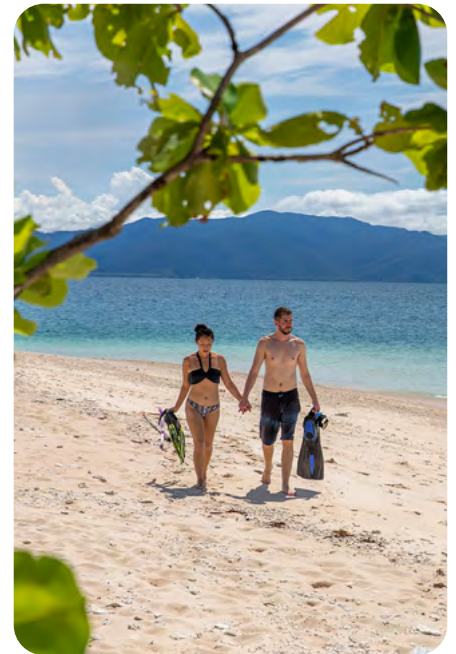

The Frankland Islands have special significance for the Mandingalbay Yindinji and Gungandji Aboriginal people who fished, hunted and gathered food on these islands and the adjacent sea country.

Frankland Islands Reef Cruises is the only commercial operator licensed to land on beautiful Normanby Island, so you can relax and explore with plenty of space and time. Plus, once you're on the island, you can customise your day trip to suit your interests – our all-inclusive day tour has a fabulous range of optional activities to choose from.

Welcome to paradise

Your tropical island adventure begins as you travel south from Cairns past ancient mountains and fields of sugar cane. Board our high-performance transfer vessel and enjoy a leisurely 30-minute cruise down the Mulgrave River, lined by rainforest and mangroves. From the river's mouth it's a quick crossing to the Frankland Islands – the shortest open water crossing of any Great Barrier Reef day tour.

Normanby Island is surrounded by sandy beaches, with reefs you can snorkel to straight from the shore. You have a minimum of four hours on the island to relax and explore. Choose to snorkel, do an introductory scuba dive (extra cost), a semi-sub tour, or join our marine biologist/Master Reef Guide for an island walk to discover the diverse wildlife, from the rock pools to the rainforest. Our friendly team is on hand to help you enjoy this pristine Great Barrier Reef national park island.

Star of the Reef

Discover a beach side galaxy on your day trip to Frankland Islands! Marvel at the unique star sand—twinkling remnants of Foraminifera organisms that decorate our shores with nature's own stardust. These beautiful little exoskeletons are unique to Frankland Islands.

These tiny celestial sands are just some of the fascinating creatures to discover around the island.
